

OPUS

Modular design is the art of creating a composition made up of different elements. OPUS is the new porcelain tile from Isla Tiles, interpreting the strength and elegance of the “perfect” stone, austere in style and fascinating in its design, perfectly balanced between classic and modern.

OPUS is a ceramic surface that originates from a mix of various types of stones, producing a refined aesthetic effect with a Nordic flavour. The antique-finished tile-edges are reminiscent of handcrafted processes and give an authenticity to the material. Customising the floors is possible due to the modularity of the elements, prearranged to enable well thought-out – and never boring – laying patterns: the different sizes offer the chance to create new, creative compositions.

There are four OPUS colours – Sunrise, Thunder, Silver and Luxor – on a chromatic scale ranging from powdery white to dark anthracite grey: neutral, but not indifferent shades, able to enhance any furnishing style, traditional as well as modern.

OPUS started off as a design for interiors, but it is suitable for outdoors as well, with R10 and R11 surfaces, and is also available in matt version. The collection is ideal for giving tasteful finishing touches to residential premises and public and commercial spaces.
