

Pietra Mediterranea

Pietra Mediterranea, the latest collection by ISLA, features enveloping hues and surfaces reminiscent of the flourishing Mediterranean nature, the inspiration behind elegant shapes and welcoming spaces. ISLA has employed the most cutting-edge production technologies to transform the charm of natural stone, a building material imbued with the visual and tactile memory of the surrounding territory, into ceramic materials for architecture.

Pietra Mediterranea features four trendy colours with a versatile texture that easily adapts to contemporary design through the modular sizes in the range. The aesthetics and functional characteristics of Pietra Mediterranea lend themselves to use on walls and floors and are enhanced when combined with the Struttura Mix solution, a decorative proposal with a minimalist feel, featuring elaborate textured surfaces reminiscent of the artistic craftsmanship typical of Mediterranean countries.

ISLA has also included a tile version with a thickness of 19 mm and grip R11 surface in the Pietra Mediterranea project. Designed for outdoor use, it provides aesthetic continuity between the indoor and outdoor areas and is suited for dry-laying on grass, gravel and sand, installation on traditional screed and for creating raised floors.
